ORGANISED AND BROUGHT TO YOU BY ASDEM

Five days. Four events. One city that has run the world's ships for three thousand years.

This October, Asdem brings the tanker and trading community to Athens — for the conference, for a masterclass on either side of it, for a workshop that pays for itself, and for the good company of the people who do what you do. Take one event or take them all; each stands firmly on its own.

DEAL TO DELIVERY — THE OPERATOR'S MASTERCLASS

Monday to Wednesday, 19–21 October •

09:30–17:00 • Alba Graduate Business School

Three intensive days on the whole of the operator's craft — taking a concluded trade and turning it into delivered barrels. Twelve ninety-minute sessions built on the working example of a real trading company: the market and the price, the oil and its regulation, contracts and chartering, and the life of a voyage. Fifteen of Alba's postgraduate students learn shoulder to shoulder with fifteen working professionals. Run not-for-profit; €625 for the three days.

Welcome Drinks — the evening of Wednesday 21 October

The real conversations start the night before. Join us over welcome drinks at the rooftop bar of the Royal Olympic Hotel, the Acropolis lit above the gardens — and find the people you came to Athens to see.

CONFERENCE DRINKS RECEPTION

All conference delegates are invited to join us for a drink's reception at the Royal Olympics' rooftop garden which features spectacular sunset views of community who are unable to attend the conference may purchase tickets at €75 each. Contact us at info@asdem.com for full information.

THE ATHENS TANKER CONFERENCE

Thursday 22 October · 09:30–17:00 · The Royal Olympic Hotel, Panorama Hall

This is where the hard questions get answered. One day, fifteen sharp papers, and a room full of the people who fix, operate, claim and advise. The price cap and the sanctions perimeter; nomination and war risk under pressure; when a master can refuse an order; what the demurrage rate really carries, and the new costs pressing on it; bills of lading and the move to paperless trade; the carbon cost of a voyage; and the trading landscape ahead. Every paper is written to be used, and every delegate takes all fifteen away. The day ends with a reception in the rooftop garden, the city gold at dusk.

Delegate fee €1,400 + VAT; early-booking rate €1,050 before 10 September; loyalty rate €1,190; group rate €100 per delegate for three or more; drinks reception-only ticket €75. Discounts are not cumulative.

ADDITIONAL COSTS — an Asdem Workshop, and a stand-alone event in its own right

Friday 23 October · 10:00–12:30, with lunch

Additional berths, additional ports, additional distance, additional expenses and bunkers — under both charterparties and sale-and-purchase contracts. It is the money that quietly leaks out of every voyage, lost to delay, misunderstanding and dispute. In one focused morning, with worked examples, we make the principles clear — so you claim what is yours and pay only what you owe.

Part of the Athens Tanker Conference, and open on its own. Free to conference delegates; €250 including lunch as a stand-alone morning.
